Danny Boy

English ballad

Subtitle 2

This is an unlabeled verse.

A7                      D                                      D7                      G
I7                      IV                                      IV7                      VIIb

1. Oh Danny Boy, the pipes, the pipes are calling

D                      F#m                      G                      A7
IV                      VIIm                      VIIb                      I7

From glen to glen, and down the mountain side

D                                      D7                      G
IV                                      IV7                      VIIb

The summer's gone, and all the flowers are dying

D                      Em                      A7                      D
IV                      Vm                      I7                      IV

'Tis you, 'tis you must go and I must bide.

6b7                      7bm                      4#                      6b7                      1#

Ch1. But come ye back when summer's in the meadow

7bm                      4#                                      4m                                      3b7                      6b7

Or when the valley's hushed and white with snow

1#                      4#                                      1#                      7bm

'Tis I'll be here in sunshine or in shadow.

1#                                      4#                      6b7                      1#

Oh Danny Boy, oh Danny Boy, I love you so.

Second verse And if you come,

when all the flowers are dying

And I am dead,

As dead I well may be

You'll come and find

The place where I am lying

And kneel and say ■ an "Ave" there for me.

- Bullet list item 1
- Bullet list item 2

Ch2. And I shall hear, though soft you tread above me
And all my dreams will warm and sweeter be

If you'll not fail to tell me that you love me
I'll sleep in peace until you come to me.
